Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1500 on Monday 13 Sep 2021

UK Outlook for Tuesday 28 Sep 2021 to Tuesday 12 Oct 2021:
Confidence is fairly low through this period. However, the current signals suggest low pressure will lie to the northwest of the UK. This may bring unsettled conditions to northwestern areas, with a low risk of stormy conditions at times. In the southeast more settled weather is likely. Towards the mid October, a trend towards more widely settled conditions is possible. Overall, rainfall is expected to be above average with temperatures warmer than average.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.